

The recent lab was enjoyable and straightforward. With my background in MCU embedded systems design and firmware programming, it wasn't too challenging. I mainly used AI to speed up datasheet review, grab code snippets, enhance code comments, and spark ideas.